COOKIE POLICY

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that are automatically stored on the browser of the user's PC. They contain information based on web browsing activity and, thanks to the browser, are recognised each time the user visits the site.

All of the information concerning cookies installed by this site is set out below, together with instructions on how to manage your preferences.

What types of cookies are used by this site?

This site uses cookies, including third-party cookies, to improve the browsing experience and allow users to avail of our online services and view ads in keeping with their preferences. This site uses the following categories of cookies.

Managing cookies

1 - Technical cookies

The technical cookies described here below do not require consent and are therefore automatically installed when the user accesses the website.

- Functional cookies: cookies that ensure the proper functioning of the website and enable the user to have a functional browsing experience. For example, they ensure that the user stays connected throughout the browsing session and is not required to reconnect to access subsequent pages.
- User preference cookies: cookies that enable the site to remember preferences selected by the user during the session, e.g. language settings.
- Statistical and audience measurement cookies: by way of data collected in anonymous, aggregate form, these cookies provide an insight into how users interact with the website, providing information on sections visited, time spent on the site and any functional issues encountered.

2 - Third-party cookies

Cookies managed by third parties are also installed via this site.

For more information on these third-party cookies and managing consent, please follow the links in the tables below. The <http://www.youronlinechoices.com/it/le-tue-scelte> page also provides useful information on behavioural targeting and on deactivating or activating cookies from the companies specified, who work with website managers to gather and use information for targeting purposes.

2.1 - Third-party statistical and audience measurement cookies

These cookies provide anonymous/aggregate information on how visitors use the site. Follow the links to the pages below to view the relevant cookie policies and manage consent.

2.2 - Social media sharing cookies

If links are provided on the site, these third-party cookies are used to integrate certain common features of the main social media platforms and offer them on the site. In particular, they allow users to register and log in to the site using Facebook and Google Connect, share and comment on pages of the site on social media, and enable the Facebook "Like" and G+ "+1" features. Follow the links to the pages below to view the relevant cookie policies and manage consent.

3 - Remember that you can also manage your cookie preferences via your browser

For Internet Explorer

In Internet Explorer, click "Tools" and select "Internet Options". In the Privacy Tab, move the slider to the top to block all cookies, or to the bottom to allow all cookies, then click "Apply".

For Firefox

Select the "Tools" menu on the browser and select the "Options" menu. Click the "Privacy" tab. Select the desired level from the "Storage Rules" drop-down menu. Check the "Accept Cookies" box to activate cookies, or uncheck the box to deactivate them. Choose how long cookies can be stored for.

For Safari

Click the Safari Menu, select the "Modify" menu and select "Preferences". Click "Privacy". Select "Block Cookies" and click "Done".

For Google Chrome
